

COLLEGE PLANS FOR FINAL WEEK

Forty-eight Graduates to Receive Degrees on June 15.

DR. GRAY WILL BE ORATOR

Titles of Theses of Aspirants for College Honors.

Clad in classic cap and gown, forty-eight young men and women of Richmond College will march up the steps of the old building on the night of Wednesday, June 15, to receive the degrees to which they have looked forward for many the long day. This year commencement at the college is to be an unusually festive occasion, for students and alumni share the common vision of the larger Richmond College that is rearing itself already in their eager eyes. The gay young freshman of to-day will probably have his commencement days out at Westhampton, where the new college is to be located, and the college bell in the tower will in a few days ring out one of the last classes to graduate on the present campus.

This week and next the students will thread the narrow and uncertain path of examinations. The first event of the commencement comes on Sunday, June 12, at 5:15 P. M., when the commencement sermon will be preached by Rev. O. C. S. Wallace, D. D., pastor of the first Baptist Church, of Baltimore.

Dr. Wallace was formerly president of McMaster College in Toronto, Canada, and is a public speaker of national reputation. He will rank second to no baccalaureate preacher this year in the South.

Class Day Plans.
Class day, with its "guilts and cracks and waltz wiles," will come at 8:15 Monday night. Class orators will turn loose the "lingo Bryanistic," while class historians will point out what a model lot of graduates the college is parting with this year. This is the one occasion of the year when the "studies" have the drop on the "profs," and there will be much laughter and fun-making.

Tuesday is alumni day. That morning comes the annual meeting of the college trustees at 11. This will be a most important session, for the board will take up the report of the committee as to the new site, the plans for the new college, the style of architecture to be used, and the matters touching the fine old institution that is to be created anew in Westhampton.

The annual dinner of the Society of the Alumni will come at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. This will be a most happy event, and at it will take place reunions of the class fifty years out, that of 1860, and of the other reunion classes—1885, 1900 and 1905.

And the women "grads" are expected to have a reunion of their own the same day, the alumnae and women students will tender a luncheon at Guth's to the women graduates of 1910. This will be a somewhat unique part of the commencement program, but college spirit will be there in abundance, and doubtless there will be some very clever toasts and speeches.

Dramatic Club.
For the especial delectation of the alumni, and a complement to them, the college Dramatic Club will present "The Two Gentlemen of Verona" on Tuesday night at 8:15. This delightful old play was given with decided success by the club a few weeks ago, and it will attract hundreds of alumni to the college hall. The women students will take prominent parts in this performance.

The most picturesque feature of the final exercises is the academic procession, which occurs at 11 o'clock on the morning of commencement day. For the first time in the annals of the college the trustees will appear in cap and gown. They, together with the president and faculty in their gowns and vari-colored hoods, indicating of many different degrees, and the graduating class similarly arrayed, will make an imposing spectacle, lending much dignity to the occasion.

Honorary Degrees.
At the morning exercises, several honorary degrees will be conferred, and the commencement address will be delivered by B. D. Gray, D. D., LL. D., of Atlanta, Ga., formerly president of Georgetown College, Kentucky.

The closing exercises begin at 8:15 in the evening. It will be then that the degrees will be awarded to the candidates. The medals and other honors of the session will be presented at that time. Directly after the exercises are concluded, President and Mrs. Boatwright will tender a reception to the alumni, the graduating class, the students, the faculty and their friends.

The only candidate for the master's degree is J. B. Hill, whose thesis is on "The Commission Plan of Municipal Government."

RADICAL PAPERS CAUSTIC

Roosevelt's Speech Still the Subject of Editorial Comment.

London, June 2.—Theodore Roosevelt's Guild Hall speech is again the subject of long editorial comment in most of the London morning newspapers, and it takes the leading place in the topics of the day.

The new British Cabinet of United South Africa yesterday decided to release Dinuzulu, son of the famous Chief Cetewayo, who was serving a term of four years' imprisonment in Natal for harboring rebels, and give him a yearly allowance of £2,500, subject to his good behavior.

London Radical morning papers sarcastically express the hope that this act of clemency will not incur Mr. Roosevelt's displeasure on the score of "sentimentality."

Mr. Roosevelt passed to-day quietly. He visited the National Gallery during the forenoon, and had luncheon with several men prominent in the Irish Nationalist party.

There was sixteen leading Nationalists at the luncheon, and Mr. Roosevelt had an intimate discussion of Irish affairs with them. Only two speeches were made, one of welcome by John Redmon, and the other a humorous reply by the former President.

It is understood, however, that the charges do not bear against the Associated Charities, the organization, but against Mr. Buchanan, the secretary.

He will return to his office this morning, and it is expected that a full and complete explanation will be forthcoming.

REPUBLICANS ON RECORD

They Declare in Caucus for Postal Savings Banks.

Washington, D. C., June 1.—The Republicans of the House went squarely on record to-night for prompt passage of the postal savings bank bill, which is part of President Taft's legislative program. The bill was finally agreed on at a caucus lasting until midnight, at which the following resolution, submitted by Representative Tawney, of Minnesota, was adopted.

"Resolved, That the postal savings bank bill agreed on by this caucus be, and the same is hereby, adopted that the same be reported by the Committee on Post-Offices and Post Roads, and that it is the sense of this caucus that a rule be reported from the Committee on Rules for its consideration in the House."

The caucus was largely attended, and the only bolt was by Representative Southwick, of New York, who vehemently denounced the bill as radically socialist, and withdrew, declaring his intention to fight it on the floor of the House.

To-night's caucus had left only section nine, relating to the disposition of postal savings funds, to be dealt with. The bill establishes postal savings depositories for depositing savings at interest with the security of the government for repayment.

The caucus fixed at 65 per cent. the amount of the funds placed in the postal savings banks that must remain on deposit in banks in each State and Territory, and 30 per cent. as the proportion of such funds that the trustees may withdraw for investment in United States securities. The other 5 per cent. must be held as a permanent reserve in the United States Treasury. This disposition of the funds, which is contemplated in connection with the proposed postal savings bank legislation, was provided for in the Davidson amendment, which was adopted by the committee.

The original bill provided that 47 1/2 per cent. of the funds that might be put in the postal savings banks should be deposited in local banks and the same percentage was authorized to be withdrawn for investment in United States securities, with 5 per cent. reserve fund in the Treasury.

The caucus voted down the Vreeland amendment, which extended the percentage of deposits allowed in the local banks to 72 1/2 per cent., and the investment in Federal securities to 72 1/2 per cent., with the 5 per cent. permanent reserve. The Vreeland amendment was first defeated on a rising vote by 59 to 53, and again voted down when tellers were ordered by 59 to 57. The Davidson amendment was then adopted.
